

Another way we can present dialogue is through the use of a playscript.

Character

Stage Direction

Dialogue/Speech

Nasty boy: (shouting and pointing) You, an African princess? Don't be silly!

Nasty's Friend: (laughing) Where's your palace?

Lyra: (looking sad at ground) Leave me alone. I don't need a palace.

In your mixed up group you need to do the following:

- 1) Sit down and discuss what will happen after this bit. Make sure every has a say, and you listen to everyone.
- 2) Decide how to write the ending, who will say what and how?
- 3) Use talk to get organised and decide who is doing what.
- 4) Rehearse your ending and perform it to the class!

Nasty boy: (shouting and pointing) You, an African princess? Don't be silly!

Nasty's Friend: (laughing) Where's your palace?

Lyra: (looking sad at ground) Leave me alone. I don't need a palace.